Disclaimer

GS1®, under its IP Policy, seeks to avoid uncertainty regarding intellectual property claims by requiring the participants in the Work Group that developed this Receiving Advice Business Message Standard (BMS) to agree to grant to GS1 members a royalty-free licence or a RAND licence to Necessary Claims, as that term is defined in the GS1 IP Policy. Furthermore, attention is drawn to the possibility that an implementation of one or more features of this Specification may be the subject of a patent or other intellectual property right that does not involve a Necessary Claim. Any such patent or other intellectual property right is not subject to the licencing obligations of GS1. Moreover, the agreement to grant licences provided under the GS1 IP Policy does not include IP rights and any claims of third parties who were not participants in the Work Group.

Accordingly, GS1 recommends that any organization developing an implementation designed to be in conformance with this Specification should determine whether there are any patents that may encompass a specific implementation that the organisation is developing in compliance with the Specification and whether a licence under a patent or other intellectual property right is needed. Such a determination of a need for licencing should be made in view of the details of the specific system designed by the organisation in consultation with their own patent counsel.

1 Business Domain View

1.1 Introduction

Message Definition

The Receiving Advice enables the receiver of the shipment to inform the shipper on the actual goods received, compared to what was advised as being sent.

Principles

Typical business uses of the receipt information can include – updating of inventory, identifying shipping discrepancies, and adjusting orders and related invoicing.

The Receiving Advice can be used in correlation with the Despatch Advice or other shipment documents to:

- Provide a simple acknowledgment that goods have been received
- Provide a detailed verification of actual goods received
- Provide notification of exceptions between shipment documentation (e.g. Despatch Advice and BOL) and actual receipts

3 Business Transaction View

3.1 Business Transaction - Receiving Advice

When the Receiver receives a shipment of goods from the Shipper, the Receiver compares the received goods to what was advised as despatched on the despatch advice or shipping documents, and creates and sends a Receiving Advice. The Receiver has the following options to choose from regarding what the Receiving Advice may contain:

- Full – details- Includes qualitative and/or quantitative details regarding everything received (all line items) whether or not there were exceptions between what was received and what was advised as being sent.
- Exceptions – Includes only qualitative and/or quantitative exceptions between what was received and what was advised as being sent.
- Confirmation – The acceptance of the receipt of goods.

7 Summary of Changes

Any change in the GS1 standards is done based on the Work Request (WR) submitted by the GS1 User Companies or Member Organisations. All Work Requests are documented in the Work Request system available on the GS1 website: <http://wr.gs1.org>. The system is accessible to registered users. New visitors need to register first, to be able to access it. WRs can be searched by the number referenced in tables below, see: Search Work Requests. The number starts with the two last digits of the year when it was submitted, followed by the consecutive number within that year.

Note: WRs submitted earlier than February 2012 should be searched in Old Change Requests.
